Business Description

Since ancient times in Egypt and many other countries, leeches have been used in medicine to treat neurological disorders, dental problems, skin diseases and infections. Nowadays most of them are used in plastic surgery and other microscopic surgeries. Leeches exude peptides and protein which prevent blood clots. These are also known as anticoagulants and maintain blood flow to help treat diseases.

The total world trade of leeches is more than $ 47 million. China ranks first with 17% of world trade, the United States, Indonesia and Germany rank the second to fourth largest producers of leeches respectively. Mehr-Leech Trading Company is one of the top producers of this product in the Middle East with large industrial farms. This company provides hygienic products with the highest level of quality in the world to customers with global standards.
